WE NOMINATE

Lyman Spitzer Jr., internationally known astrophysicist and an architect of the program placing observatories in orbit hundreds of miles above the earth, who this week was singled out for one of the Princeton Community's most demanding posts, the chairmanship of the University's nine-member Research Board. Succeeding Henry DeWolf Smyth and Joseph Clifton Elgin, with the latter serving as the Board's Acting Chairman until February 1, 1967, this 51-year-old native of Ohio assumes direction of an agency concerned with shaping policy in the acceptance and administration of research contracts and grants now representing annual expenditures approximating $27,000,000.

It was well over 11 years ago — three years before Sputnik I — that Spitzer startled many by predicting that it was "only a question of time" until observatories would be zooming through space. Now, with OAO, ("Orbiting Astronomical Observatory") an actuality, which has been likened in historic importance to Galileo's first telescope, a Princeton project under Spitzer's supervision is well into the testing phase of an effort to place a major observatory in orbit in mid-1968. The Princeton satellite, one of four projected, will be the last launched in that it will require the greatest guidance accuracy and must profit from the successes and failures of earlier flights.

Spitzer, a member of the Yale Class of 1935 and a graduate alumnus of Princeton, has been the driving force in the creation and continuing development of the University's Plasma Physics Laboratory, Princeton's program in controlled thermonuclear research. In recent years growing numbers of physicists and engineers have been assembled on the James Forrestal Campus to collaborate with Spitzer and others in grappling with the "formidable scientific and technical difficulties that must be surmounted in working towards the goal of fusion power." This unusual staff, headquartered in buildings constructed at a cost of some $35,000,000, now includes well over 200 members.

In 1951 Spitzer first approached the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission with an idea for providing an almost limitless source of power by containing and harnessing the nuclear burning of hydrogen at temperatures comparable to the sun itself, temperatures in the order of 100,000,000 degrees or higher, and only achieved on earth in the explosion of atomic bombs. The motivation in controlled fusion research, Spitzer has stated, is the realization that man's predicted power requirements for the future show the urgent need for sustained growth in the world's power capabilities, a growth not possible with the estimated energy reserves of fossil and fissionable fuels.

Called to Princeton in 1917, and carrying forward the traditions shaped by Charles Augustus Young and Henry Norris Russell, Spitzer combines oversight of the Plasma Physics Laboratory and space astronomy ventures with the chairmanship of the Department of Astrophysical Sciences and the direction of the University's Observatory. The author and editor of several definitive publications, ranging from the "Physics of Fully Ionized Gases" to "Physics of Sound in the Sea," and active in prestigious scholarly organizations, including the National Academy of Sciences and the American Philosophical Society, Spitzer during the first semester of the next academic year will be on leave, lecturing in Paris and "researching."

For the range and depth of his achievements as a research scientist and teacher; for his capacities in portraying effectively the challenges facing men and women of science; for broadening the base of his responsibilities in an era when the aspirations of mankind are rooted in basic research; he is our nominee as

This Is PRINCETON

"THIS IS PRINCETON"
For Foreign Visitors. Overwhelmed by the hospitality, awed by the orderliness of traffic but somewhat bored by the blandness of the food a dozen Eisenhower Fellows and their wives have returned home from Princeton after eight days of orientation to the native ways of Americans. They came from Afghanistan and Tanzania, Poland and Malaysia, Portugal and New Zealand — to name only a few points of departure. Gathering first in Philadelphia, they converged on the Princeton Inn, becoming acquainted with one another—it's just as interesting for Afghanistan to learn about Poland as for Tanzania to learn about the United States.

ed States—and attending lecture-discussions at the University on various aspects of American life.

The eight days over, they scattered across the country to spend the next six to eight months exploring America, meeting men in their own professional professions, and developing—it is hoped—a deeper understanding of the United States.

Open House. "Why, Americans are so friendly!" exclaimed one visitor. "We visited a Princeton home, and it was truly an 'open house.' We were even shown the children's playroom and the sleeping quarters. No one in Europe would have opened his home in such a manner to a complete stranger."

"When our guests were leaving," said a Princeton hostess, "the wife asked shyly about central heating; she had never seen it before. I would have been delighted to show her our furnace but by then it was too late."

The particular dishes served an American dinner to guests from Afghanistan, Poland, Malaysia and Portugal. Eagerly they consumed crackers and sour-cream dip "it's so typically American," the hostess said. "Chicken with herbs ('chicken' is a world-wide favorite and 'safe' for religious diets), glazed carrots and peas, cracked wheat ("they eat it all the time in Afghanistan and the Afghan guest didn't recognize it"), tortoni, tea and coffee.

"They went back for seconds without being asked—not a shade of timidity," the hostess said. It was not these guests who shrugged about the bland food. But the wife from Ceylon—warmed, perhaps, in advance—brought along her own condiments hoping for a chance to cook.

Such Lovely Children. A wife from the Philippines exclaimed with delight about the children she met in Princeton. "Outspoken," is the word she used. In the Philippines, children are trained to be followers, she explained, to be meek and docile, not to "speak out."

Wives participated in a packed schedule arranged for them by the YWCA. There was a fashion show the day they arrived, a visit to Princeton Hospital and to "Merwin," a tour of New Hope and Memorial Hospital, a morning at the Princeton Nursery School on Leigh Avenue, a visit to a public school class for retarded children, a welcome at Riverside School, and a swim in the "Y" pool.

"I am astonished at the hospitality of American women!" the Fellow from Afghanistan exclaimed. He had met in Philadelphia, a hostess with six children who "did everything," and he was told that her counterpart existed in Princeton a hundred times over.

One of the orientation lectures for the Fellows was on volunteerism. This aspect of American life, so taken for granted in Princeton, impressed these Asian, African, European families more than almost anything else they learned about the United States.

Fund Raising. "We were told that 33 million Americans raise $11 billion a year on their own time, out of a sense of responsibility." It is the African again, expressing astonishment and admiration. He was particularly impressed that bank presidents, wealthy lawyers and businessmen are court and the Princeton High School band. The route of the march would be from Quarry Street up to Nassau Street School to pick up the younger children and then on down Walnut Lane.

The children's request was made public at a meeting on Wednesday of the Borough Safety Committee with representatives of the PTA. The session was called to work out safe streets for walking to the school.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Robert Darnieder, Mrs. Nicholas Russo and Mrs. James K. Randall, all of the PTA; Police Chief Peter McCahan, Dr. Stroup, Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney, Witherspoon Principal H. Ward Waxwood, Mrs. Dorothy Lattimore, Nassau Street School principal, and Thomas Cawley, Borough Engineer.

Plans so far call for seven crossing guards with police officers at three additional crossings. Guards would be stationed on Nassau Street at University Place, Washington Road, Clement Street and Harrison Street. Also at Witherspoon and Wiggins on Franklin Avenue at Witherspoon, Jefferson Road, and Harrison Street, as well as at Moore and Wiggins Street and Walnut Lane and Hamilton Avenue.

How chill is April
When she blows.

April is chill, blowing or not. In the past ten days, for example, the temperature hasn't gone as high as 50 more than once, and in outlying areas, there have been several pre-dawn readings below freezing.

More of the same for the next few days, the Man reports. Clearing Thursday fair, Friday but showers likely for the weekend, and no warm weather in sight.

Some children in the opposite end of town from the school will have as far as 2½ miles to walk, and it was reported that parents in the University Place-Mercer Street area are thinking of arranging for a private bus.

The tremendous flow of traffic to the John Witherspoon School and the adjacent high school, especially on rainy days, was discussed at length. School hours will be staggered.

Dr. Stroup Reported The tentative morning schedule is 8:10 to a half of the high school pupils, 8:30 a.m. elementary students, and 8:45 a.m. for the second group of high school students.

As the John Witherspoon School will have two cafeterias, the children will be encouraged to stay for lunch, rather than cross town to have lunch at home.

"The Woods": The PTA is concerned about the lack of sidewalk on Westmaster Choir College land lying between Franklin Avenue and the school. The undergrowth on the land is also a hazard for the small children, the PTA says. Mr. Cawley estimated that the cost of installing sidewalk would be about $1400, a matter which Dr. Stroup will present to the Board of Education and the college.

Plans are to educate the children as to the location of safe crossings. At the close of the first week, the safety plans will be re-evaluated.

As for the parade — "Why not?" said Mr. Mooney. "It's the first new school in the Borough since 1928."

GOVERNOR'S CHILD HIT

Crossing Intersection, Helen "Honey" Hughes, eight-year-old daughter of Governor and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes was struck by a car Thursday as she was crossing Bayard Lane at the intersection of Nassau Street.

At first it was reported that she suffered only scrapes and bruises. Later, however, X-rays revealed she had received a fractured pelvis. She was expected to remain at Princeton Hospital for about a week.

Honey had just begun her spring vacation and was heading down town to buy a pair of shoes, when the accident occurred at 4:20. The crosswalk had only a few hand-painted yards from her home at Morven; the Governor's mansion.

COLOR & CARPETING

Continuing from last week's column, by this time, you've already decided on your favorite color family and have thought of the warm, red or neutral colors for your room. So now we'll go on to color schemes, of which there are just three kinds:

MONOCHROMATIC, made of the various tints and shades, from light to dark, of one color.

RELATED, made up of several neighboring colors on the color wheel.

CONTRASTING, made up of colors that are directly opposite each other on the color wheel, such as red and green (or shades of these primary colors, such as rust and olive green).

In a good-color room, it's always a good idea to use a dash of contrasting color in accessories. It's also wise to use the darkest shade in the carpet. Generally the darker the color on the floor provides a better balance for the rooms.

Many interesting carpets are made up of closely-related "color blends" — and you'll find related colors in a wide choice of fabrics, wallpaper, paints and accessories.

When using contrasting colors, remember to make one less important than the other, otherwise the effect may be overpowering. It's better to keep large areas in the same color family and use their "opposites" in other furnishings, such as the color of upholstery fabrics or draperies.

At E. Bahadurian & Son, with our many years experience in caring for rugs, we feel qualified to assist and advise you in the selection of rugs and carpets for your home. We have the facilities to handle any carpet job, no matter how small or large.

Both our Oriental rug sales and service and our domestic carpet sales and service are conducted by appointment only. This ensures that you are seen personally when you come to our showroom.

IT'S NEW To Us

LIKE ANTIQUES?
 Try Them. The rubber patina of old mahogany can be yours, at least to look at, when you visit Ardis Leigh, one of the top antique dealers in this part of the world.

Mrs. Leigh will be an exhibitor, by the way, at the University Hospital Antiques Show at The Armory in Philadelphia starting next Tuesday, April 10 and continuing through April 23.

Here in Princeton, Mrs. Leigh receives her customers in the historic Beattie House, Vandewater and Park, between 10 to 4 on Fridays and Saturdays, or by appointment. Call 924-9310.

An exquisite little cherry looby, made in Lawrence, Mass. in 1740 for the Lawrence family is one of the prize pieces now in Mrs. Leigh's collection. And at the opposite end of the size scale, is an imposing black front secretary from the Rhode Island 1760-70.

A splendid aristocrat, this secretary has a bonnet top and original brass gleaming against the dark wood. "Black front" refers to the rare "black" patina used in the four lower drawers. Behind the tall doors is a fascinating array of pigeonholes, with scalloped partitions a little light-dash door with a fan carving above it and those intriguing tiny drawers that always add to the mystery of a secret secretary.

A swaggering young buck from mid-18th-century England once straddled the cock-fighting chair in the Ardis Leigh hallway. It's a chair with a folding table hinged to the back. Swing the table up, anchor it with a brace, and astride the chair and place your bet! A disc-shaped tray also swings out to hold — ale or claret!

New Jersey collectors will exclaim over the cherry linen press made here in the 18th century. (Mrs. Leigh says it has never seen a linen press made anywhere else BUT New Jersey.)

A clothes-press from Pennsylvania was made about 1770 when closets were unheard-of. It has hooks behind one door, shelves behind another, one long bottom drawer and two smaller drawers above that. It's walnut, massive and indestructible.

Another New Jersey piece is the charming Windsor bench made of maple about 1770. It's a full seven feet

Let'er Ride

The RSW-16 is the closest thing to a Rolls on two wheels.

Unfamiliar with the RSW-16? No matter, its quality the other day at Tiger Auto, and now we're convinced every family should have one — or two.

Proportioned like a motorcycle, it's a high-low bike with three speeds, two hand brakes, small wheels and a small motor. It's like a dream," the Tiger man said, and fits anybody from over six years old to his grandmother. Bike designers have realized finally that the classic "girl's" bike is much easier to mount than a boy's with that annoying bar, and this one has no bar.

On the back, where you often find a small foot bag, is a giant plastic bag, which can take off and use for shopping or just carrying around. Price, $29.95.

long supported by four pairs of slender legs. And back are one continuous line.

Connecticut cabinet-makers were far out. Mrs. Leigh says with a smile. Influenced by design from the north and south they sometimes solved problems by going their own individual ways.

Take, for example, the desk-on-frame. This rare desk has a top balanced perfectly on a frame with the desk's little feet. A sunburst design on the skirt repeats, smaller, above a pin-hole. Remove a center cube and discover, on the cube's back, a pair of document drawers. Secret papers! Of course.

Another frame desk stands high off the floor on taller legs. This one has an unusual cut-out in the front, and the fact that it stands high, the frame is unusual in itself.

Smaller pieces at Ardis Leigh include a maple screw candle whose double candlesticks spin up and down like a pinwheel. The spindle rises from a three-legged maple base.

There's an oval sewing stand from 1600 with lift-up top countless little practical nooks for thread, embroidery and secret love-letters.

The cherry card table has the most exquisitely delicate inlay work you could imagine, so fine a quarter-inch wide you might miss it if you didn't know. Slender! Herplewhite legs complement the delicacy of the inlay.

SHALL WE DANCE?
 Long and Short, Milling an R.S.V.P. to a spring dancing party, we stopped next at The French Shop, 20 Nassau, for an appropriate uniform.

Spring dancing dresses! A floor-length cotton with normal waistline, gathered neckline and minute shoulder bow is made of a wild print combining plant green, daisies, orange, caerulean and purple.

Admission to Friday's double feature is $1; Sunday's lecture is free.

PSYCHO!

Thriller Here Alfred Hitchcock's horror film "Psycho" will be shown in McCart Theatre Thursday at 8 as a special film bonus.

Released six years ago, "Psycho" stars Anthony Perkins, Janet Leigh, John Gavin and Vera Miles. "Not for the timid of heart," McCart warns. "High Society," the musical version of "The Philadelphia Story," will occupy the McCart Theatre screen next Tuesday starting at 8. One of the "Classic Film Series," "High Society" stars Bing Crosby, Grace Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Celeste Holm and Louis Armstrong, to say nothing of the music of Cole Porter.

CROSS THE RIVER

For Rucks 28th Season, "Beyond the Fringe," the satirical revue that ran three years on Broadway, will open the 1966 season for the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, Pennsylvania.

It will be the 28th season for the Playhouse, and the opening night will be Saturday, April 30. The opening will be a formal one, with a champagne party at the Playhouse Inn following the performance.

New Matinee Times Set

The Playhouse and Garden Theatres will hold matinees at 2 p.m. in the future, instead of at 3 p.m., according to Richard W. Knight, manager.

The advance in time schedule will enable patrons in avoid Princeton's heavy 2 p.m. traffic. It will also ease the working schedule of employees, particularly when the film is beyond standard length.

Walter Pinner Jr. will once again be the Playhouse producer. He has blocked out a schedule of 10 shows in a 22-week season extending to October 1.

"Beyond the Fringe" will play through May 14 to be followed on May 16 by Arthur Miller's controversial "After the Fall" directed by Milton Katselas.

DANCERS WARM UP

For Ballet Festival. A two-day Princeton Ballet Festival of dance, concerts and exhibitions, will be presented on May 26 and 27 by Aspen School of Dance. Milla Gibbons, director of the school, hopes to make the festival an annual affair.

Mills Gibbons will serve as artistic director, working with a committee consisting of Dorothy Tobolsky, theatre; Jane Greene, concert; ballet music; Mabel Blum, exhibition of ballet art; and a general committee whose members are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waldron and Walter Fallum.

ASTRONOMY — GEOLOGY — WEATHER

Borough and Township householders will join with Borough and Township engineer offices in solemn observance of Spring Clean-Up Week, April 23 through 28.

Material should be placed in containers at the curb early in the week so that it will be there when the trucks come around. Clean-up debris must be boxed; even piles of leaves must be packed in containers before the men will haul them away.

Brush tied into bundles and left at the curb will also be collected. Large branches must be cut and tied together.

The men will pick up only what one man alone can lift. No glass, please.

It's New To Us

dread-length coat. Even more dramatic is the bright coral with chemise top covered by a short-sleeved overhush cut with short neck. It's all-over lace and as flattering as can be.

The hat? A case of green covered with white snow-drops and green leaves to make you look like Puck himself. . . . dogwood blossoms . . . peonies . . . spring wildflowers . . . each hat has a different bouquet.

French Shop particularly like its brilliant paisleys with their deep Puritan crowns, wide Garbo hems and 1930's hair. One is predominantly red, another royal purple. A Breton has a fine green lace holding in the riot of spring flowers that covers crown and deep, upturned hem.

The bag? Printed trapezoid cotton embroidered with gold thread. Have one in red-blues, or gold-greens, each fastened with wrought gold clasp to catch the gold line in the embroidery. A great hit. Big one will dazzle everywhere you go this summer.

WHAT A LURE!

Catch One? A lure at Tish-Tot not allured in The French Shop. Lures at the Witherspoon Street store are made to catch fish, and please, no witticisms.

The new one, Rapala, is a Finnish minnow that wobbles so realistically you'll put him in a fryin' pan. Three sizes, up to $1.36 and if you are a fisherman, you've seen this one advertised.

A rubber minnow has, they say, that life-like minnow feel. He squiggles just like a real one, pliable and fishy. $1.50.

Our favorite is the new Little Jay of synthetic salmon eggs. Good enough to put on toast.

Closed face reels, spinning, casting reels, fly reels—Tiger is really in the lead. From 58 cents, or $19.95, depending on your skill and Daddy's pocketbook. Tiger's Wild waders, insect repellent, creels of all sizes and fishing vests. Take your off with everything but the catch.

For other sportsmen and sports-women, Tiger has tennis rackets from Wilson, MacGregor, or Brunswick, starting at $1.89 and climbing to $19.95. These are all "rummy" prices by the way: the racket is ready to serve if you are.

Buy Tiger's court markers: the best you wheel you fill with chalk dust and roll around the court. Presses and covers are here, too, and tennis shoes for boys, girls, men and women.

Are you going to buy the kangaroo leather glove for your hot player? The one that's softer and longer-lasting? (We're speaking now of the glove: you can speak for your hot player!) It's $39.95, but think of the durability. You know how kangaroos are used and wear.

Little Leaguers can find evidence at Tiger: shoes, chin protectors, face masks, in every size and price. Softball, baseball, and soccer. Too, or how can you know the score?

Topics Of The Town

Police identified the driver as Mrs. Frances K. Mezzeroni, 31, of River Road, Belle Mead. Pti. Anthony Ranfone charged her with a failure to yield to a pedestrian at a crosswalk.

Mrs. Mezzeroni, on her way home from work in Lawrence Township, told police she estimated her speed at the time at 10 miles per hour, which was corroborated by eyewitnesses. She was, however, unable to explain her failure to see the girl, police said. It was her first accident in 11 years of driving.

BEFORE FROST COMES... Jackson Street Will Be In "Before the snow flies," said Borough Councilman Elwood W. Godfrey, counseling on a warm spring, "we'll have Jackson Street re-aligned."

Dr. Godfrey's remark followed the introduction by Council Tuesday night of an ordinance appropriating $94,500 for purchase of a key piece of property, the 68 Chambers Street parcel belonging to Mrs. Arthur Mitchell.

Actually, the Borough is paying $90,000 for the 178 by 108 foot piece of land. The rest of the sum is interest and fees.

Mrs. Mitchell's house lies in three zones. A judicial consent decree some years ago established the property as commercial, and although it has never been taxed on a commercial basis and has been appraised twice with the year as "residential," the "commercial" finding of the court governed the cost of the property to the Borough.

Public hearing on the ordinance will be held Tuesday, May 10 at 8 in Borough Hall.

"Speaking at a 'Doubting Thomas,'" Dr. Godfrey added, continuing his Jackson Street thoughts, "I wonder whether this new Jackson Street will turn more of our central business district over to the automobile. This is supposed to be progress... well, economic progress? Functional progress? Is it best for the individual and the community? I have my doubts..."

The Princeton Housing Authority, which announced this week that it hopes to break ground June 1 for its housing-for-the-elderly project on North Harrison Street, has, through its lawyer, Thomas Cook, written to Borough Council asking that Council, in effect, pay half the cost of a Harrison sidewalk.

Council and Mayor Henry S. Patterson replied with some exasperation. The project is supposed to be constructed without cost to Borough taxpayers, various Councilmen pointed out, and yet there are always, as Mayor Patterson observed, "little things here and there."

The Authority asked some time ago that Spruce Street be put through and Council replied that when the Borough got around to putting Spruce through, it would treat the Authority like any other taxpayer. Now-sidewalk.

"It would be a walk point from nowhere to nowhere," the Mayor said, "and it is not in the interests of the Borough to pay half of it. Besides," the Mayor continued, looking around the Council chamber, empty except for the press and two or three visitors with business before Council, "nobody is here to represent the Authority. I don't like the idea of liaison on the basis of letters between lawyers."

Who Co-operates? The co-operation agreement between Council and Authority was a question. When was it made and how long was it supposed to be in effect? Councilman William H. Walker said "Cooperation" always seems to mean that we co-operate with them—not the other way around.

Borough attorney Gordon D. Griffin reminded Council that normally a property owner pays the entire cost of a sidewalk.

Council decided that it didn't have enough information—or, indeed, inclination—to act favorably on Mayor Patterson's request, set the matter aside for deliberation.

Mayor Patterson named Lewis Bain, 39 Cedar Lane to the Board of Health to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Alfred S. Cook Jr., 242 Prospect, who has resigned.

The Mayor also appointed Community Action Council to work with Wilton J. Coan of the Mercer County Action Council. Borough members are Mrs. Arthur Sherwood, 19 Cleveland Lane; David Haggard, 22 Cedar Lane and the Rev. Edward Smith, 36 Green Street.

Replying to some tart questioning by Councilman Emory Durbin about the precise duties of the Community Action group, Mayor Patterson said that the duties were to be as precise and that so far as he could tell confusion seemed to be the order of the day.

NOTE EVIDENCE. This hole in the air windshield is mute evidence of the mishap that befell a Princeton family Saturday on its way to an Easter egg hunt. Three children and two adults were injured. Story, this page (Staff Photo).

TELL ME A STORY. Later at Princeton Hospital, during National Library Week, young Raam was treated for a fractured left shin bone. The Friends of the Princeton Public Library will sponsor a story-telling program in the school during National Library Week which begins next Monday. Volunteering to tell the story will be the first, second and third grades of Riverside, Johnson Park and Community Park Schools.

Mrs. Mary Virginia Sauerbaum and Mrs. Rodora Wright will direct the program. Volunteers are Mesdames H. A. Blumfield, Frank Ciesla, Nicholas Cost, Fred Fields, J. B. Hunter, Philip Farson and J. B. Thomas.

The Friends of the Library will also sponsor story-telling on the summer playgrounds. Dr. Donald Kerozy will conduct three workshops, at least one of which will be open to the public. Mrs. Anne Lanahan will supervise the story-telling.

AWARDS NIGHT TUESDAY. For AIMA Princeton Section. The Princeton Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics will hold its second annual awards meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Convocation Room of the Engineering Quadrangle.

Guest speaker will be S. Paul Johnston, a former Princeton student and now the director of the National Air Museum of the Smithsonian Institution.

The Elmer W. Engstrom Award for excellence in teaching science and mathematics in secondary schools will be presented to the winner of a chemistry and physics teacher at the Central High School of Haverhill Valley. The award honors Dr. Engstrom, Chairman of the Executive Committee of AIAA.

A special award will be presented to Herman M. Gurin, staff engineer of the RCA Astro-Electronics division, for participating actively and positively in the activities of the Section for many years.

CYCLIST CUT IN CRASH. Five Summons Follow. A 1954 Harley-Davidson motorcycle was injured Monday morning at 10:35 when he skidded into a car leaving an exit from the Engineering Quadrangle parking lot on Old State Road.

Bruce S. Baum, 15 Oxford Circle, Skillman, received a deep laceration of his left leg and tear the knee which cut but was given first aid at the scene by P.I. William Hunter, who reported the youth over much to an undetected university student.

P.I. Hunter reported that the student used his bare hand to apply pressure to the wound and contain the bleeding. "It was a bad one," said Hunter. "You could see the bone." "I think that boy would have been in a lot of trouble if it weren't for that student, called Hunter," he said. "I'm sure I could get his name but he knew what he was doing. All I did was apply some clean bandages."

... Lore and Good Wishes

The spirit of Easter was graphically illustrated this week by a little girl. Six-year-old Judy Petrozino of Kingston was on her way to an egg hunt, Saturday when she was involved in an auto accident. Many people saw her lying on the ground with her face buried in the snow. When she returned from the hospital, where she had been taken, she found on the front porch an Easter basket with new toys.

"To the Little Girl who was in an accident yesterday on the way to the Easter Egg Hunt, from another little girl who saw her, and won this candy basket and wants her to have it with love and good wishes. It is all right. Good luck."

There was no signature.

other car coming, she added. After impact, her car skidded to a stop. Police made no charges.

A Bunker Hill Road couple, Kenneth and Joyce Drysten, were injured when their car hit the Kingston Bridge, Saturday morning, 30 minutes after midnight. Mr. Drysten was admitted to Princeton Hospital. She sustained multiple facial lacerations, contusions and a possible fracture of the left elbow. Her husband was released after being treated for abrasions, lacerations and contusions of the chest. Police said he suffered a temporary loss of memory.

Mr. Drysten lived Township.

police as he approached the bridge he started seeing the lights of another car in front of him. He could not remember anything else. Police added that the second car, whose driver was unidentified, was on the wrong side of the road.

Walter I. Lipincoff, 45, of Bethpage, N. Y., was arrested during Saturday morning by Pil John J. Bellow. Bellow reported that Mr. Lipincoff was driving the wrong lane on Nassau Street and struck a car waiting for the light at Washington Road operated by Randall L. Jones.

Mr. Lipincoff was taken to Borough Hall and given tests which indicated his ability to drive was impaired but that he was not intoxicated.

In a similar accident at the same intersection last Thursday, Mrs. Charles T. Anthony, 18, of Trenton, hit a car waiting for the light driven by Joseph A. Vonnack, 19, of Evelyn Place.

Sgt. Michael Carmelone said that Mr. Anthony came out of Washington Road, and while making her turn, strided into the right side of the Vonnack car. His verdict, careless driving.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

For Services Council, Mrs. Nancy C. Gryzbek has been named part-time executive director of the Council of Community Service. She is the first paid executive of the newly re-organized council.

Mrs. Gryzbek previously done volunteer work at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and has served on the board of the Homemakers Service since its establishment. She holds an M.S. degree from the Simmons College School of Social Work, where she majored in psychological social work.

Her previous experience also includes work in the psychology wards of Army and Navy hospitals. She worked for the Boston Council of Community Services where her father was executive director.

The Council of Community Services is an autonomous group affiliated with the United Fund. It is a voluntary non-profit organization of individuals and public and private agencies interested in the fields of health, welfare, recreation and education.

The council's purpose is to keep in touch with community needs and resources in these fields. It seeks to coordinate and improve community services, and to find ways of taking care of current needs.

RUMMAGE SALE PLANNED

By Hospital Aid Group. The Hospital Aid Committee will hold its spring rummage sale on April 25 through 28 at the Harrison Street Fire House.

Donations to the sale, which benefits Princeton Hospital, may be left at the Firehouse on Monday, April 25, from 9 to 10 or Tuesday from 9 to noon. Mrs. Henry Broad will be in charge of collecting heavy furniture on these days.

The sale will open at noon on Monday with books, furniture, kitchenware and toys. Draperies and counter, clothing, bags, belts, hats, and women's clothes will be available Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Herbert, sale chairman, has appointed the following committee: Mrs. Burton Weibrecht and Mrs. C. D. Dyer, receiving; Mrs. E. V. Hally and Mrs. Margaret Marshall, furniture; Mrs. Henry Dyer, kitchen; Mrs. Paul Ashton and Mrs. Robert Adams, toys; Mrs. Margaret Hall, draperies; Mrs. J. M. Gravel and Mrs. George Bush, shoes.

Also, Mrs. Alfred Ross and Mrs. O. Johnson, church, night committee.

YOUTH WAIVE HEARING

Held for Grand Jury, John G. Shambora, 18, 43 Moran Avenue; Joseph E. Bueck, 18, 13 Craven Lane, Lawrenceville; and Joseph E. Bueck, 18, 42 Canabash Place, charged with breaking and entering and larceny, all waived a preliminary hearing Monday before Borough Magistrate Theodore J. Tams. Chief Peter J. McCrohan said all are free on bail, each $1,000, by a Mercer County Grand Jury.

In traffic court, John P. Michaels, 18, 24 Lakeview Drive, Yardville, paid three fines for committing driving violations on several Borough streets. He paid $10 each for careless driving, and light infraction and speeding. The latter also was charged with revocation of his license.

Ronald O. Hurford, 20, 197 Shady Brook Lane, was fined $15 as an unlicensed driver; Roger E. Alecy, 24, 220 White Iron Street, $12, red light; and John P. Scarsa, 19, Nassau Street, $10, improper display of plates.

In Township court, Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. last week fined Thomas J. Fowler, 27, Spruce Hill Road, Skillman, $10 each on charges of driving with an expired license and registration. Fines of $25 and $10 for careless driving were levied against Frank Kowalezyk, 52, Route 208, Skillman, and Henry S. Gordon, 36, 4 Lewellen Street, Hopewell.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Coers, 21, 27 Hisset Avenue, paid $15 for failing to keep right at an intersection, and Frederick L. Tufson, 37, 613 Snowden Lane, $10, displaying only one plate.

The Division of Motor Vehicles suspended for 30 days the license of Walter J. Yuras, 10, Old Road, RD.4, for speeding.

MRS. MCINTOSH TO VISIT

Princeton Day School. Mrs. Millicent C. McIntosh, president emerita of Barnard College, will be a special assembly guest next Wednesday and Thursday, April 20 and 21, at Princeton Day School.

Her visit is sponsored by the mothers of the junior class. Mrs. McIntosh will discuss "Where Independence Education Going?" at a dinner meeting on Wednesday with a number of the faculty. On Thursday, she will visit classes, address the student assembly and meet with the juniors and seniors, as well as other interested students and teachers. She will speak to the juniors on "Problems Between Generations" and to the seniors on "What to Expect from College."

INN TO BE RENOVATED. Dining Room Closes. The Peacock Inn is currently undergoing its first renovation since the 200-year old building was moved to Byward Lane from Nassau Street in 1878. Construction activities are forcing owner Bryce Thompson IV to turn away luncheon and dinner trade until the renovation is complete to about two weeks.

When the dining room re-opens, several new dishes will have been added to the menu. The Inn's cocktail lounge, Peacock Alley, will continue to be open from 2 p.m. to midnight, Monday through Sunday.

B & I DIVISION FORMS
 to Chamber of Commerce.
 Members of banking and insurance firms are developing a separate division within the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce.
 An exploratory meeting was held on Wednesday at the Nassau Inn under the chairmanship of Theodore S. Reed of the Guilick Agency. The group discussed mutual problems and community service projects.

Representatives present were John Bernard of Sturabahn, Dickinson & Bernard, William J. Wood of Walter B. Howe Co., W. B. Foster Jr. and Richard Shreve of Nassau Savings and Loan Assn., A. H. Stocker and David Anderson of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., E. deG. Gosling, Gosling Agency, Inc., and William J. Quinn of the Guilick Agency.

Robert V. Dilley, executive director of the Chamber, and Everett Garretson, vice-president of the business services division, also attended. The B & I Division will meet again on May 16.

MCCRACKEN PROMOTED
 to IBM Division President.
 Frank H. McCracken 21 Olden Lane, has been promoted from general manager to president of IBM's newly-reorganized Information Records Division. Mr. McCracken is the first president of the division to its ten-year history.

He became general manager of the division in 1964 when it was known as the Supplies Division. The division, which has its headquarters in Princeton, operates ten manufacturing plants and three engineering laboratories and sells its products throughout the country.

Before coming to Princeton, Mr. McCracken was vice-president and mid-western regional manager of IBM's mid-western Data Processing Division. He has been with the company since 1946.

FIRM NAME CHANGED
 To Polly Schreyer Associates. The former Wangler Associates has been re-named Polly Schreyer Associates.

The Princeton real estate firm has been located at 349 Nassau Street since moving there from 8 Stockton Street last December. It is conducting business there now and has the same telephone number, 924-0613.

CPA FIRM OPENS OFFICE
 in Thompson Court. The New Brunswick public accounting firm, Rosenthal and Attinger, has opened a branch office in Thompson Court, 195 Nassau Street. The company has been serving Princeton FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY Bobbly Frances, who joyous "I remember you" has greeted many a returnee to Princeton, is celebrating his 40th year at Renwick's. Now 77, he retired in 1955 from his other job at RCA where he worked from 8 to 4 in the cafeteria for 11 years, while keeping a 6 to 10 p.m. schedule at Renwick's. He arrived in this country from Greece in 1916, with $25 in his pocket. "I met a lot of money these days". At Renwick's since 1926, he lives at 117 Linden Lane, Retire from Renwick's. Never (Start Shook).

clients for nearly 25 years. One of the largest accounting firms in the state, Rosenthal and Attinger was established about 40 years ago. The principals are Arnold B. Rosenthal, RMA; Isadore Attinger, RMA; Samuel A. Saltiel, and Charles Greenberg, CPA's and associates Herbert Fenove, Lawrence Goldberger and Elliott Chou, all CPAs.

The new office will facilitate service to Princeton clients in all phases of tax matters and accounting.

FIRM USES COMPUTER
 To Speed Construction. The Princeton architectural firm of Fulmer and Bowers is using a new technique of computerized construction scheduling to decrease construction time.

The new system, known as the Critical Path Method, makes it possible to reduce time by as much as 25 percent.

Fulmer and Bowers is currently using the system to speed the construction of the new Cumberland County College. The firm expects to complete the job in the unusually brief space of nine months. During the past three months, the computers have made it possible for the contractors to meet all schedules.

The architects' specifications require the contractors to use the computerized system and to include its cost in their bids. Monthly reports from the contractors are fed into the computer which then schedules future shop drawings, ordering of materials and manual work.

The firm predicts that classes will be able to meet at the college next fall, although construction was just started last January.

JOB SERVICE OFFERED

For Students. Snelling and Snelling, personnel consultants, are offering a free summer employment service to Princeton area students. Young job-hunters are invited to go to the firm's Princeton office, 124 Nassau Street, and check the bulletin board that lists firms looking for summer employees.

No applications are necessary and students will be offered a free booklet on advice on summer employment. Students and parents are asked not to telephone the office.

Murray Leisher, manager of the firm's Princeton office, has asked the cooperation of industry in calling his office and listing summer vacancies. He also requests that firms which expect no vacancies call so that students may be instructed not to apply to them.

BARISH CHOSEN

By Insurance Company: Mort Barish Associates, 22 Chamber Street, has been chosen by the Stuyvesant Insurance Company of Newark to supervise its public relations.

Barish Associates will handle Stuyvesant's advertising sales promotion and public relations. The Newark company specializes in fidelity and surety bonds.

 guest as he arrives at the Wine Tasting to be held this Saturday from 5-8 at Princeton Day School for the benefit of the Princeton Chamber Orchestra.

Tickets, at $6 each, are available at the Princeton Courtyard, Hinkson's and at the door. Purchasers must be over 21.

On Saturday afternoon there will be vintage white wines, each one selected by a committee of connoisseurs to illustrate some fine point of oenology.

One table will offer four French wines from widely separate geographical areas. Another will present a "blind-fold test," with bottle labels removed so that you can decide yourself which is French and which is domestic.

Why two glasses? For purposes of comparison a sip here, a sip there, and back again.

Wine tasters who want to learn more about selecting wines may buy, for $2, the Wine Tasting Magazine. "Choosing a good Enjoying Wine." It has been illustrated by Arnold Roth, who will be on hand to supply his fresh grip. Wine maps, wine lists, recommendations for fellow-taste-food combinations and a section on cooking with wines are included in the booklet.

The Wine Tasting Committee consists of Christian Aull, Michael Bulinski, William Bunnell, Stuart Duncan, Ernie Larson, Lucius Withering and Jeremiah Farrington.

RARE BIRD SIGHTED
 At Stoner Food Center, a rare sparrow, a great rarity in the Princeton area, was spotted last week at the Stoner Food Audubon Center by the center's director, Douglas Decker, and has since been seen by other professional ornithologists.

The bird has a black face and crown and a distinctive pinkish throat. It has been never before "collected" in this area, but they have been commonly seen in other parts of New Jersey and New York.

BOOKS SOUGHT
 For Bryn Mawr Sale. The Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton is asking for contributions for its 20th annual Bryn Mawr Book Sale. The sale will open Wednesday, April 25, and continue through the following Friday at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Books, records, prints and sheet music of all types will be offered at the sale. Those wishing to donate articles should call Mrs. Joseph Wilder, 924-9083, Mrs. Gilbert Niles, 921-6074 or Mrs. Peter Fralinger, 5-1-0023.

LAFIACA TO APPEAL
 Besides to Continue Case. Uncertain about a course of action a week ago, Charles LaFica and his attorney, William Hought, have now decided to ask the State Supreme Court to consider their difference of opinion with the Borough over a zoning decision.

The Borough won a favorable decision last month in the LaFica zoning case from the Appellate Division of Superior Court. Most legal actions, including Mr. Baggitt and Hugh Wise, who is representing the Borough in this case, believe the Supreme Court will agree to take on the case because of the precedent involved.

The question, Borough officials point out, is whether Council has the right to exercise its own judgment in evaluating a record presented before the Zoning Board. It is in the LaFica case, Council said "no" after the Zoning Board had said "yes" and Mrs. LaFica went to court.

CORRECTION
 Information TOWN TOPICS received last week from the police concerning an investigation conducted by Alcoholice

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business around Princeton. Each issue, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

live there is some substance here, too. What do we mean by the word "God"? No one really knows what they mean when they use religious language. They can't pin it down. Moreover, I think it is wrong to reject outright a theology which by its own admission is in its infancy. The God is Dead movement is just raising questions: It's not offering answers. It's a question every body has raised. It's just that it is more organized now.

IS GOD DEAD? Although the idea may be repugnant to many, Jeff Archer, who personally has no belief in it, nevertheless defends its right to exist by saying: "We just can't drop it because we disagree with it." (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the "God is Dead" movement?

Where asked: Theological Seminary campus.

John Orth, junior: I think it has some advantages for the church today because it reminds us of one of the facts of life: that in many respects we are living in a post-Christ era and that God is dead from a sociological point of view rather than from a theological one. In other words, a large number of people believe He is dead; therefore, sociologically, He is non-existent. The authors talk of modern man very much, and I think it helps us try to determine who modern man is. I consider myself a modern man, yet at the same time, I'm a theist. Therefore, to me, modern is not to say God is dead, necessarily. What man actually says of God is independent of God. Man could conceivably say God is dead, but to say this doesn't automatically make God dead. We're not magicians manipulating the Divine.

Gary Backert, mid-tier: My opinion right now is that it's a movement stirring up a lot of furor which presents an intellectual challenge of honesty not open to scholars who are on both sides of the issue.

John Staples, Morrisstown, Pa., Seventh Day Adventist minister: I think it is an outgrowth of the pagan life we are living today. I think this is a reaction that goes farther back than simply today. To me, it goes all the way back to the naturalistic interpretations which, in turn, go back to evolutionary ideas of God which, to my mind, put God at a distance from the individual. If God is so far away, then what responsibility do I have to him? I think most of the problems we have today in morality and such, are the fruit of this whole idea. If you take God out of a person's life, it's like a child without a parent. He has no responsibility, no direction; he's adrift. The tragedy to me more than anything else, is that this blasphemous suggestion has come from the theologians themselves and so-called interpreters of life — because that's what ministers are. If they suggest things like this, then what hope is there for the average man? The Bible doesn't try to prove the existence of God; it assumes the existence of God. It says: "In the beginning was God."

Charles Patton, Jr., junior: I think by and large it is misunderstood. I believe its theological importance, or lack of importance, is based on the implications which are contained in the title of the movement. The words, "God is Dead" do not convey the central core of what the movement is trying to say.

YOU NEW TO PRINCETON? You'll find "Admission for Newcomers" a delightful, interesting information reading material available without charge at TOWN TOPICS, a Mercer Street, 515

Marilynn May, student: My feeling is that I don't fully understand it but I think it's invigorating. I don't know quite what they're going to prove but for me it's been real thought-provoking. It's exciting. I think some of the things they are talking about are very important questions that have to be asked.

Vernon W. Towne, mid-tier student: I think they do have a point. College students and other men don't use the term God except in a profane way. The word God doesn't have the usage it had in past years. When our country was young there seems to have been a closer relation with God. . . . Founded Under God, I think we trust. We have strayed away from this and I think the Death of God theology is trying to point this out. To that end I agree with them. Seems like in my debate on the subject today you must first define your terms. I know I find this true in the church where I am, whenever I engage young people in conversation about God in any way, shape or form. The young people question deeper today than they ever did before. In past years we accepted what parents and tradition said; today we rebel against all the familiar connotations tied up with the word God. The only question I have is this: The Death of God people say we have to redefine our terms of God. What is going to be their solution? So far I think a problem without a solution. Seems to me what we have is as good as anything. Why don't we try to build on what we have and communicate it better, rather than try to start all over?

Robert Batty, senior: Let's just wait and see.

Alfred Marx, French student here for one year: I think it's a sign of 19th century thinking on a 19th century problem. I recall reading a book by Emile Brunner who said that no reasonable man would say God is dead. In Europe, I believe no sensible man would disagree with that.

Richard Martin, master's candidate: I think it is a cultural phenomenon which is not entirely unlike what I feel is a part of the modern scientific attitude toward all of life. It's a youthful attitude. I think it's not entirely unlike the civil rights movement and the so-called sexual revolution — it's a rebellion against orthodox authority of the past. But I think it's not.

Thanks from Viet Nam.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Since my name and address appeared in your and several other papers prior to Christmas, I have received over 200

letters from every imaginable source expressing thanks and gratitude for the job that I and thousands of other Americans are doing for the cause of freedom here in Viet Nam.

I know that many of my countrymen in the States have been expressing their gratitude for their forced service in an endless array of gestures, gifts, demonstrations, letters, etc. and I would now like to take the time to thank you and all those who have written to me, for bringing my people and my country

so close to my heart when I'm physically so far away. I would like very much to all own and individually answer

all of the letters I've received personally thank everyone for their thoughtfulness, but I have so many letters and so little spare time that I can't possibly accomplish this task.

If you could just express anyhow for me my thanks to all of these wonderful Americans, I would be extremely grateful.

For a time when the anti-war demonstrations were in full swing and receiving so much publicity, I began to feel alone and often wondered if I was truly fighting for what the majority of my peop back home felt to be just and right.

I desired to come to Viet Nam because I believe in my own mind that the cause we're fighting for here is a just one and that these people deserve a chance to choose how they wish to live - and that

I'm not only fighting to preserve the freedom of a far off Southeast Asian country

but in the long run for my own country as well. Perhaps if we can stem the tide here it will save our children the necessity of doing the same thing in some other time and place. Now, especially after receiving the multitude of letters I have from the Princeton and Trenton areas, I know that I am not standing alone in my beliefs and for this I will be forever thankful.

Perhaps the best expression of my feelings on this subject may be demonstrated by quoting Christopher O'Sullivan, a

U. S. Army Corps man who was killed over here last year. Before his death he wrote in a letter to his wife:

"Here is a country-Viet Nam - and people like you and me, with families like ours,

fighting to keep it existence. As long as you and I believe we should be free men, we feel that in others as important. I firmly believe in the fight."

No solution is so damning as to allow the Communists to slice more men, women, and children here. These Vietnamese who care don't want a neutral slavery. They want a free choice of their future.

And this can occur only if you and I see a purpose for the fighting to help these people live and grow free. This country, like ours, was in 1776, must receive help."

In closing I would like to say to you all that even though you've written and have received no reply, the time and effort you have given us has surely not been wasted - not one moment.

Up on we're fighting here in Vietnam, and it's a cruel and dirty war and we're thousands of miles from home, but you and your readers have given us your hearts, your homes,

and most of all your thoughts and we can ask no more.

My heartfelt thanks again to all of us, EVERYONE.

MEAT MAKES THE MEAL!!

Whether you're serving two or twenty - formally or casual - it's the meat that makes your meal.

For more than 50 years, Princeton area people have been calling LYONS - one of Princeton's oldest mar-

spoken well in reminding Princeton parents of their responsibility toward their teenage sons and daughters. I believe that there is a definite tendency on the part of too many Princeton parents, to equate the giving of "things" with the expression of "love". This is taking the easy way out from a responsible expression of love and concern.

But beyond this reminder, Mr. Bartley's letter seems to reveal little understanding of what goes on at the Tomb. I would invite him and other parents of the community to drop in any afternoon to talk with us and to see for themselves just what the "darkened, smoke-filled room" is all about.

If I may be so bold, I would suggest further that Mr. Bartley's letter reveals little understanding of what the church is all about. If the church were merely a place for worship and nothing more, then we at the Tomb might be justly accused of "lowering the standards of the church". But if the church is a body of caring people—as I understand it to be—people active in the midst of their community-sharing concern with other members of that community, then the Tomb is expressing this understanding rather than lowering any standards.

If we do little more, in the course of our existence, than to allow those who come to the Tomb to realize that we are as much the church down there as we are upstairs, then that time will have been worthwhile. And if and when these and any other teens may be in trouble and need help, they are welcome to come to us "dressed in any garb, with any attitude".

As to the other letters and articles, may I say this: We hope very much that we have pointed out to the community as a whole, the need for a "Tomb," a community center, a student lounge or some such place where they can know as theirs. We feel we have a responsibility to meet needs which these teens have—needs often typical of all teens—but more, I believe that we have a responsibility to challenge this particular community to live with its problems and to bring them to a workable solution.

We may have some influential effect upon the lives of those who presently frequent the Tomb, but the needs of Teen - Adults will exist long after these are in college and begin families. If we are meeting an immediate need, the community must think ahead sufficiently to meet and, possibly, alleviate the similar needs which will be with us in the years ahead.

KIWANIS OFFERS LOANS
To High School Seniors
The Kiwanis Club of Princeton, N.J., is offering a loan program to high school seniors who are planning to attend college. The loan is for $100 and is repaid over a period of one year after graduation. The loan is made by the student loan committee.

fering a limited number of loans to high school seniors who are entering college in September. The amount of each loan has been increased to $350 and the total over a four year period to $1400.

There is no interest on these loans until after graduation; no repayment is due until one year after graduation. They are payable over a six year period after college. Any student attending a private, public or parochial school in the Princeton area is eligible. Qualifications are based on need, and a genuine desire to get a college education and be of service to the community. Application requests should be sent to: Stephen P. Miller, 1000, Princeton, N.J. Selections will be made by the student loan committee.

"OPEN WALL" Jane Teller is shown with "Open Wall" now on view at gallery 100. The "wall" has been constructed of maple and churred fir. Mrs. Teller is also showing her pen and ink drawings at Gallery 100.

ART In Princeton

ARTISTS EXHIBIT

At Gallery 100, A show of sculpture and drawing by Jane Teller opened at Gallery 100 on March 28th and will run to April 24th. Mrs. Teller, a Barnard graduate in the Department of Fine Arts, has studied sculpture with Aaron Goodfriend, Karl Nielson, and Abram Latus. She has shown work in New York at the White House Museum of American Art, the Philadelphia Academy, the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and in other shows in Chicago to Paris. Her work has been reproduced and described in Harper's Bazaar and the New York Times Magazine. She is married to Walter Teller, the well known writer who, after living in Bucks County for a number of years, has recently moved his family to Princeton.

Technique Contrast, Worked or the dots in two very different media — drawing with pen and sculpture in wood — Mrs. Teller exhibits great contrast in technique. In the drawings, delicacy and sensitivity to immediate character are paramount in her nature studies of trees and shrubs. There is almost a biological interest in portraying the individuality of leaflets or the endemic convolutions of tree bark.

There are drawings of whole trees, even a few landscapes, but more often focus close-ups of parts of nature's offerings. She zeroes in on a section of tree trunk and feels out its knoos and woody crustations with the result of an overall design telling a life history.

In the Red Maple series, I to IV, the sections vary; some are vague, rather abstract compositions, others are more defined and tactile but all have a pithy feeling indigenous to the wood. "The Web of the Trees," with its dry effect of branches interlaced against the sky, is done in her finest line technique, a happy picture. Simplicity itself is the tiny illustration "Little Shrub." Cold and isolated, this small strand of winter stalks carries great character and charm in its rendering.

Sculptured Walls. Two sculpture-walls were born "Open Wall and Wall IV." Made of maple and churred fir, walnut and oak and pine respectively. Heavy forms, rounded, squared and curved sometimes cracked and notched often polished to a silken finish or contrarily left rough-cut are combined into free standing wall structures.

In the words of the artist herself, these walls are the expression of her "wander of the natural world, using forms for words their combinations for visual syntax." The forms are simple, bold and strong like the wood itself, and studying their arrangement and their textures one may feel what Mrs. Teller hopes that "these are places for meditation, dreaming for better."

It is interesting to see in this artist's desire and gift for studying nature, that on one hand, from close scrutiny peering into secret places she may express her feelings in delicate linear terms. On the other hand she can take the broad view in three dimensions, looking at the natural forms objectively and combining them structurally.

Her sense of color or far-sightedness are equally important to her. She is just as serious about taking you to the heart of the natural matter as making you stand well off for the effect of a contrived combination of natural elements.

Chen Chi. For a month the Princeton Art Association will exhibit at 14 Nassau Street a selection of signed reproductions of watercolors by the noted artist Chen Chi. These reproductions have been made specially in Switzerland and are in limited edition. Chen Chi, whose fine work has been shown before in Princeton, is a member of the American Watercolor Society and the National Academy of Design in New York City.

Present Day Club. During the month of April, the exhibition at the Present Day Club is a Members Show open

Gino & Co. Paintings by an art-teacher and the works of his students will be shown side by side at the Princeton Art Association's next McCarter Theatre Show. It will open this Saturday and will run through mid-May.

Gino Ciechlin is the artist. A teacher at Riverside School, Mr. Ciechlin has had 16 years of teaching experience and 20 years of painting experience. The youngsters who work with him at Riverside have had fewer years of experience, but they have caught their teachers' own creative enthusiasm.

Mr. Ciechlin started as a medical student, but changed just in time, and received a Master of Fine Arts degree from the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts in 1958, after taking his preliminary art-education work in Edinburgh.

to the public by appointment.

Chancellor Green. The Princeton University Photography Club has been reactivated after a year's hiatus and its first exhibition of photographs by the membership is now hung in Chancellor Green Hall on campus.

As a show attractively presented and consisting of various techniques and points of view, this is worth going to see. Most impressive and mature is the work of a Princeton student who signs himself Y. Rimom. Obviously he has had the most experience or is

HOW ABOUT ZONING?

Housing Group To Discuss.
The Princeton Housing Group will hold its annual meeting this Thursday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Leonard Newton, 90 Denmy Avenue, to discuss the proposed Township zoning ordinance. The public is invited to attend.

The ordinance under consideration would require most new single-family homes to be built on 1½ to 2-acre lots. The Group maintains the proposal, in effect, plan out of the community all those who earn less than $15,000 per year, since a lot that size plus the house would cost a minimum of $40,000. The group must attract would-be teachers, politicians, nurses and Negroes and Italians who have lived in Princeton for years, the group maintains.

Formed in 1954, the Princeton Housing Group was the first organized housing group in the United States. It has assisted over 50 Negro families to obtain housing in non-segregated areas of Princeton. The Housing Group believes zoning laws are changing Princeton into a single-class, high-income community.

WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET

To Hear UN Speaker.
The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Community will meet next Wednesday at the Nassau Inn at 8:15 p.m. Mrs. George Little, official observer to the United Nations of the National League, will be the guest speaker.

A dinner for League members will precede the meeting. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Stephen Fairweather, 445 Hickory Court.

Mrs. Richard Bergman, League president will present her annual report, and the treasurer will present the budget for the coming year. Members will be asked to decide on the local program for 1968-69. The issue of housing in Princeton Borough and Township with reference to planning and zoning laws will be proposed.

The following slate of nominees for 1968-67 will be submitted: Mrs. Richard Bergman, president; Mrs. Roald Buhler, first vice-president; Mrs. David Thomas, third vice-president; Mrs. Thomas

Liv, second vice-president and Mrs. Robert Rosefeld, secretary. Nominated for directors are: Mesdames Carl Helm, Harry Finch, Robert Johnson, Harry Beskin, Marvin Reid, David Popence and David Loyd. The nominating committee for the coming year will include Mesdames Marvin Goffen, Jan Baumunk and Stephen Fairweather.

CARD PARTY PLANNED

By Women's Club.
The Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will hold a card party next Thursday at 8:30 at the Peacock Inn. Proceeds will benefit the club's scholarship fund.

The club gives a scholarship each year to a girl graduating from Princeton High School who has been admitted to a college and who seeks training to either business or the professions. The recipient will be selected in May and the announcement will be made in late June.

Dessert will be served at the party, and several prizes will be awarded. Tickets may be obtained for $2.50 from Gloria Seitz, 524-2258.

SCHOLARSHIPS OPEN

For West Windsor Seniors.
P.T.A. scholarships are available for seniors planning to go to college who are residents of West Windsor and have graduated from a West Windsor school.

Applications for the scholarships may be obtained from the Guidance Department of Princeton High School. The completed forms must be in Superintendent Frank Walton's office at the Maurice Hank School by May 1.

HOUSE TOUR PLANNED

In Hopewell Valley. A tour of homes of historical interest in Hopewell Valley will be held Saturday, April 23. The tour will list eight sites including Hutton House and the Old School Baptist Church. "Hutton's House," located on Province Line Road, is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Collins. It was built in 1782 and received its name during the Revolution when it was just innately sensitive to his subjects and his camera.

The subjects vary. He can take the simple shapes of a ceiling lamp and construct a cold, still composition or he can take a series of floor patterns and their reflections and turn them into a fascinating overlaid design. Realism in his landscapes of frozen brooks and snowy orchards have great charm and there is nice dramatic effect in his trees and figures in the midst.

Joseph Goodbread's studies of people are also interesting, particularly in his choice of subject in a native environment. The workmen shown are strong, some quite handsome, and his picture of children playing near the water is really gay and wonderful. These two students are among the group which has brought the Photography Club to life and they all deserve a hand.

Mrs. Sterling Anders, 601 Lake Drive, and Mrs. Hugh K. Wright, 5 Camp Hill, Lawrenceville, will represent the Wesleyley Club of Central New Jersey this week at the annual Alumnae Council meeting at the college. Mrs. Anders, the club president, and Mrs. Wright, the vice-president, will speak at the council's Benefit and Project Workshop about the club's successful annual antique show.

Sergeant Robert D. Doran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Doran, Pennington, is on a combat cruise off the coast of Viet Nam on board the USS Canberra. The ship has been firing against Viet Cong radio towers and troop concentrations and providing anti-aircraft missile cover for the Seventh Fleet.

Staff Sergeant Clarence R. Webb Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Webb, South Main Street, Pennington, has been selected as a cadet at the Air Force Base Fayetteville, N.C. for Hercules-120 aircraft mechanics.

Dr. George F. Mair, a graduate and former member of the faculty of the economics department of Princeton University, has been appointed assistant to the president of Smith College. Dr. Mair, a professor at Smith, specializes in population problems. He is currently a visiting professor at the University of California at Berkeley.

Dr. Jeannette Murky, 230 Nassau Street, of Princeton University's department of oriental studies will deliver the keynote lecture Thursday at the Festival of Arts of the University of Alaska in Fairbanks. She is the author of "To the Arctic," and with Sella Nevins, "The World of Eli Whitlow." She is currently planning a trip to Africa under the auspices of the State Department.

Don Sieja, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sieja, has been named to the 1968 All Ivy Fencing Team. He also received the George Celente Trophy for the outstanding sportsman of the year at the Eastern Inter-Collegiate held in New Haven. An alumnus of the Hun School, he is currently attending Cornell University.

I think, in the first place, it is an acute awareness of some of the old, irrelevant concepts of God. In some aspects, I agree with what they are saying especially their point that the traditional concept of God is irrelevant to the life of a secular man. I do not really believe they are talking about God himself but about theological formulations of God. For example, when you think about God you use some personal concept of Him and it is these concepts that are not really relevant. This is an awareness of the necessity of a renewal of a theology. I think the death of God movement is only half a step to be taken, a kind of critical examination of God which does not deny the ultimate dimension in human life. Therefore, if there remains some recognition of the ultimate reality in life, then from that standpoint, I think there will be a resurrection of theology. This rebirth must be expressed in positive language. It may tell about the resurrection of theology but not God himself.

Jeff Archer, middle: I've got it. I have a right to exist. As for myself, I don't put any faith in it whatever. It's a movement of thought; we just can't stop because we disagree with it.

Louise Guss, 167 Ewing Street, will be honored by her alma mater, Kalamazoo College, on Alumnae Achievement Day, April 23, for her achievements in music education. She is co-founder of the New School for Music Study in Princeton and general editor of "The Frances Clark Library for Piano Students." She has also lectured throughout the country.

How To Survive

If you ever become trapped in a building on fire, the National Fire Protection Association gives these instructions:

1. Before you flee, once a door feels hot, do not open it. If the door is cool, feel the surface for heat. If hot, block it with furniture or a mattress.

2. If you are in a room, preferably with a window, and smoke if there is no safe exit from your area, remember that the air near the floor is usually safer, so get down low. Don't jump from an upper-story window except as a last resort.

3. Wait for the firemen. Regarding use of a fire extinguisher on an electrical fire, before using make sure it is an approved type which will protect you from electrical shock. Seek the fire department's advice before using any extinguisher. For your safety in every way, we serve you! Kammiller Buick Pontiac Co., Route 206, opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

SPORTS In Princeton

TWIN BILL, SATURDAY
In baseball and lacrosse, the opening game in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League against Cornell and a lacrosse game with Army that promises to be action-packed highlight. Saturday's athletic schedule. Both are slated to begin at 2 o'clock on adjacent fields east of Palmer Stadium.

After a disappointing start in Florida, the Tiger nine has regained its ability to be stingy with the opposition. In defeating Villanova, New Hampshire and Rider last week, Eddie Donovan's operatives allowed just three runs, only one of them earned — in 25 innings. Two of the tri-umphe were shutouts.

The top pitching performances were credited to Graham Marcott, who opened the home season with dramatic no-hitter against highly-regarded Villanova and returned to the mound three days later to earn credit for a save against a Rider team which was looking for its sixth straight this season. Marcott's 4-0 victory over Villanova, one of the few teams to beat Princeton last year, was the first no-hitter recorded by a Tiger hurler since Jimmy Schoedeworth hung one on CCNY five years ago.

On a raw April afternoon, Marcott had the Villanova hitters so completely in control that only three balls hit came close to spoiling his achievement. One was a well-plunged drive that left-fielder Phil De-

BUT SEVEN OTHERS MADE IT: Frank Blondi, Princeton center fielder, was out of the plate on this play in the Rider game Saturday, but Tigers went on to break open close battle for 7-3 triumph. Last year, Rider ripped off 20 straight victories before losing to Orange and Black in NCAA District 11 playoffs. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews)

Santis flagged after a hard run toward the foul line.

The others both came typically — in the ninth, as the tension mounted. The first of these was a safely-tagged, easily-spinning grounder that first baseman Bob Weber speared with his bare hand as Tom Scott blanked. Now the ball threatened to roll slowly between first and second for an infield hit. Weber won the race to the bag.

The other was a sharp grounder past second that shortstop Ron Leacock gloved one-handed as it headed for centerfield and beat the runner by a step at two with a line throw. Marcott fanned five, walked three and three others got aboard via errors but only one man reached third. His control was not of the best, as he added two wild pitches to the three walks, but his deliveries were consistently low, he worked the corners beautifully and his curve was a major asset.

It was a combination of the curve and his change of pace that dug the Tigers out of deep trouble in the seventh against Rider. Sophomore Joe Subditch, protecting a thin 3-2 lead, had the bases filled, one out, and had thrown two balls to the next batter when Marcott came on in relief.

The junior right-hander threw six strikes among his first eight pitches to retire the side, and when his teammates showed four more runs across in the bottom of the seventh, Marcott wrapped up a 7-3 de-

In between the Villanova and Rider games, lefthander Tom Scott blanked New Hampshire.

POE CUP WINNERS: Stan Maliszewski (61) and Captain Paul Savidge (63), Princeton linemen, were named winners of the Poe Cup at Monday's football banquet with tallback Ron Landeck. The affair was postponed at the end of last season due to the flu. The team recovered from the neck injury which kept to allow Savidge to recover from the neck injury which kept to arrive awards this week were quarterback Bob Redell, the Caldwell Trophy for "improvement and effort," and line-backer Clint Johnson, the first winner of the Harry R. McPhee Award for "fortitude and durability which made him a prime source of strength to the team."

Hampshire, 3-0, allowing two hits in a game called after seven innings for darkness. With three promising sophomores to back up Nascot, Scott and senior John Redpath, Princeton is deeper in pitching strength even than in the years when it had Dave Sider, Roy Chiruz, and Harry Brightman, who were largely responsible for first-place finishes in 1950, 1951 and 1953.

Hitting is expected to be a season-long problem, however, despite the welcome 11-bow attack, good for 13 bases, that marked the victory over Rider. Seton Hall will be here Thursday at 4 and Rutgers next Tuesday at 4. If the Tigers keep rolling against that caliber of opposition, as well as winning their league opener with Cornell, they deserve to rank with the top teams in the east.

District Playoffs Here. Unless the friction between the Ivy League and the NCAA over the 16-eligibility rule prevents, the District II playoffs will be staged here the first weekend in June. Plans are to expand the tournament to three days, with the top four teams in the region playing and two defeats requisite to elimination. Princeton, at the moment, considers itself ineligible, because the Ivies agreed when Penn and Yale were banned from NCAA participation at the end of the winter season, that the ruling applied to all members of the Ancient Eight. There is, however, a possibility that the ruling on eligibility will be reached later this spring, thus giving Princeton a shot at the title in District II and a possible trip to Omaha.

TIGERS HOPE FOR UPSIDE
Against Army in Lacrosse It's been nine years since Princeton scored a lacrosse victory over Army. If the Tigers are at full strength Saturday, they may just snap that string of setbacks. The credits are not quite the equal of Navy, and Francis Thomson's team gave a fine account of itself last week at Annapolis before the powerful, midshipmen scored a 14-0 triumph for their 25th straight victory.

A tremendous seven-goal outburst in the third period elevated Princeton to a 5-0 tie with Navy's national champions as the final quarter began. The middle's extreme depth — they use four separate midfield units — then told the difference, but Thomson apparently has a steadily-improving team in the making.

Bob Mueller scored four of Princeton's goals, with Pepper Pettit accounting for another. The Tigers were down 2-1 after the first period and 6-2 at the half, the seven-goal attack following after the intermission.

Defenseman John Baker missed the game because of a bruise in his family, and two or three other key players were out. The Tigers should be to better shape for Saturday's game, the last before the Ivy season opens with Brown the following weekend.

TWO IN A ROW?
Optimistic Crew Hopes So. It has been a rare occasion in recent years when Princeton has won two races on successive weekends, but brand new coach Pete Sparhawk will take his command to the Severn River Saturday with such an opportunity for glory. The Tigers' next opponent is Navy, which they defeated here a year ago.

The Cornell alumus made his Princeton debut a memorable one last week when the Tigers reversed a decision that Rutgers had pinned on them a year ago. Overcoming an early half-length lead that the Scarlet fashioned at the start, Princeton had a full length advantage at the mile mark.

Challenges by the losers were met, and the Tigers opened water steadily thereafter, recording a two-and-a-half-length decision at the finish. Despite rowing in the outside lane against a gusty cross wind, Princeton was clocked in a highly satisfactory 8:20.

for the mile and three-quarter.

Rutgers took the junior varsity event by two and a half lengths, its reserves giving Coach Bill Leavitt food for thought by covering the distance two seconds faster than the Scarlet varsity. The Tiger freshmen posted a two-length victory, while in New York, the 150-lb. varsity made it a good day all around for Princeton towing by winning the varsity and freshman races from Columbia.

EWING TOPS PHS
68 to 58 in Track. Although captured eight firsts in 14 events, the Princeton High School track team lost its first dual meet of the season Thursday to the Ewing Blue Devils at Ewing, 68 to 58. Its record is now 1-1. The big stumbling block for the Little Tigers was the flat races where Ewing placed 1-2 in the 100, 440, 880, and two-mile events. It swept the 220, 440, and 880 yards. Pete Michaels finished first with a clocking of 4:43, was the Blue and White able to break the string.

Conversely, the field events were all Princeton. Dan Tindall (177-11), Keith Conover and Craig Beachell swept the javelin for PHS, the second time in as many meets it has done this. Robert Way was four inches higher at 11-10 to win the pole vault again. Other first place winners: Ed McNeill (5-10) in the high jump, Bart Bennett in the

Tradition May Die Out

The 253d baseball game between Princeton and Yale, scheduled for Clarke Field on June 11, will probably be the last played between the two colleges on a commencement weekend. Athletic officials at New Haven have informed Princeton that the game now comes so far after the end of their academic year that it is no longer feasible to hold the team together.

If the Elm fade out of the picture, there is a possibility that a Harvard-Princeton series might replace it. Commencement at Cambridge comes a day or two after reunions and graduation here.

Other alternatives: a lacrosse game—indicative of the steadily-growing popularity of that sport—or revival of the Invitation Track Meet. The latter event, abandoned by Princeton in the late '50s because of mounting taunts of "commercialism," drew 28,400 spectators to Palmer Stadium to witness events staged among the top track and field athletes here and abroad.

broad jump and Carl DeCavalente in the shot. Ewing broke Princeton's string in the field events by taking first place in the discus.

Outstanding performer for coach Jerry Groninger was Bennett. In addition to his triumph in the broad jump, Bart finished first in both the low and high hurdles. His times were 19.5 and 14.9. It marked the second time in three days that Bennett had won all three events.

Dave Lloyd captured third place for PHS in both hurdle races. Jim Blazakis was second in the shot.

GYMNASTICS SCHEDULED
At Princeton High School. The Girls' Gymnastic Team of Princeton High School will present a gymnastics, or gymnastics exhibition, Friday, April 22, at 8 p.m. in the boys' gym. The Trenton State College Gymnastic team will also perform.

The 26 girls on the newly-formed team have been practicing two days a week after school under their coach, Miss Gaye Barrara, a member of the Trenton State team. The girls have been perfecting original routines on different types of apparatus.

UMPIRES NEEDED
For Hill-Mont League. The Hill-Mont Little League is looking for men who can umpire baseball games in its International League. The response from the boys for the league's coming season has been heavy, and league president Bob Espinoza hopes that the adults will join in, too. Those wishing to umpire could call him at 359-3625.

Volunteers are also needed to help clean-up the baseball field Saturday. Those who can help should meet at 9:30 at Little League field in the rear of the Hillsborough Fire House on Route 206.

HORSE SHOW SCHEDULED

BOWLING NOTES

Three-Way Tie For First Place
Emerged last week in the Business Women's League. After the last pin had fallen, Nassau Conserv, the former leader, Claridge Liquor and Mackenzie Realty were all even with 34 wins each. Tied for second with 30 wins is Thorne's Pharmacy and Irene's Day Nursery.

Individual standouts were Lillian Burroughs, 204; Mari Lynn Silvester, 188-170 and Sara Rose, 181-172. Rose Zinetti and Marilyn Wilson each had 177 and Helen Tamasi a 176. Lorraine Harnoy converted the 5-6-10 split. Marilyn Silvester the 4-5-7 and Loretta Sculerati the 4-10.

A fine 63 series by Mike Picelli highlighted the action in the Three-Man Classic league. After reaching 227, Mike dipped to a 184 in his final game. Jack Lacey turned in a 223 and Eric Welschberger a 223. Next in line was Frank Smith with 211. There was no change in the top three teams. Decker's Dairy (64½), Johnson Electric (56) and Turley Motors (49½).

A three-way tie also exists in the Nassau League but for second place. Grover Lumber, Decker's Dairy and Murphy's all have 30 wins. Cifelli Electric is No. 1 with 54.

There were 13 games of 200 or more rolled, with John Cifelli claiming three. Working consistently, he fashioned scores of 210-214-212 for a 636 series. John Balduino had a 235, followed by Ed Duncan, Sr., 221, and Richard Pinelli, 220. Others: Santo Tocco, 212; Walt Komanick, 211, and Alfred Tocco and Val Sarullo each 209.

A third three-way tie, again for second place, occurs in the Business Women's League. B. League where Balestracci, Benwick's and Key Shop are knotted with 46 wins apiece. Ivy Inn is the leader with 52. Highest single game was 227, rolled by Claude Pinelli. Close behind was Jim Kabany, 223-201, and Bill Parke and Vince DiStasio with 220's. At 216 were Bill Babbie and Jack Petrone, 216-206.

Dave Wilbur followed a 191 with a sparkling 241 one to take honors in the Tri-County Firemen's loop. His 241 was the 5-6-10 split. Marilyn Silvester the 4-5-7 and Loretta Sculerati the 4-10.

Even though your electric bills may be higher, ELECTRICITY COSTS LESS TODAY THAN IN 1940!

Think of all the appliances you've added since 1940 — appliances that save you countless hours of work and bring a whole world of entertainment and comfort into your home. Our point is, the average home uses more than four times the amount of electricity today than it did then. But the combination of rate reductions and increased use of electricity has resulted in a 44% decrease in the average unit cost of electricity since 1940! Yes, when it comes to electricity, the "good old days" have progressed to "better new ones".

MUSIC In Princeton

LAST SEASON COMING
For University Series, Martine Horne mezzo-soprano, will be the last artist to appear in concert. Band has been tuning up in the last few years, and is now giving concerts in the new auditorium, and is in accomplishment.

Its musicians will join with the Columbia University Band to give a concert on Sunday, April 17, at 8:30 in McCarter
Theatre. Tickets are now sale.

The Princeton Band is under the direction of Robert L.
Leigh, who has been with the group since 1956. Joint concerts with Yale and Lehigh have been given recently to favorable critical notices. "It will be concluded, unfortunately,"
said Theodore Stringer, Harvard '39, reviewing a joint concert not long ago for the New York Times, "that the four of Europe under the sponsorship of the State Department."

For her Princeton recital
last season, Miss Horne has chosen to sing from the works of Purcell, Arnold, and Rossini. She will also sing "Princetoniaire and Lehigh" by Schumann and four Spanish Carols by Nin.

THEY'RE TUNING UP
For Presidential Concert,
Mustangs in the Princeton Chamber Orchestra under Nicholas Harasanyi, will present "A. E. Evans" and the Princeton Chamber Orchestraria" next Monday in the Department of State Auditorium,
Washington, D.C.

The concert is under the honorary chairmanship of Mrs.
Lyndon B. Johnson and is the 13th event in the President's Cabinet Artists Series begun
by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson and Mr. Johnson's patronage.

John T. Connor of New Jersey will be the audience composed of Cabinet members, Senators, Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Diplomatic Corps and cultural leaders of the city.

For its program, the orchestra has chosen the Mozart
Symphony in D Major, K.
385; Dvorak's "Serenade" in E Major, Op. 22 (both recorded by the chamber group and released under the Decca label) and "Les Illuminations," by Benjamin Britten with Janice Harasanyi as soloist.

TO DO STRAVINSKY
With Dancers, Actors. A complete production of Stravinsky's
"L'Histoire du Soldat" will be presented this week-end at Murray Theatre on campus as part of an all-Stravinsky concert by the Princeton University Music Association in cooperation with The Friends of Music at Princeton.

The full stage production will feature actors directed by Susan Rosenbaum of Community Players, and dancers choreographed by Mita Gibbons of the April School.

Performances are scheduled this Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and Saturday, April 18 at 2. Tickets will be on sale at the Murray Theatre
box-office.

"L'Histoire" has been in preparation ever since last spring when James Dushow, senior at the University, discovered that the required performance force would become available with the arrival in the fall of several excellent freshman musicians.

In addition to "L'Histoire," the program will include
"Berceuse du Chat" composed by Stravinsky in 1915-16
and Three Songs from William Shakespeare, composed in 1953. Ella Valentine will be soprano soloist in the "Berceuse" and Valerie Price of Westminster Choir College will sing the songs from Shakespeare.

YOUNG SINGERS READY
With Music Program. Members of the Princeton Day School Choir, the Lawrenceville
High School Choir, soloists and an orchestra will present a program Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the lecture at Princeton Day School.

Violinda's "Gloria" and
"Donna Nobis Paeam" of Ralph Vaughan-Williams will constitute the program. Clyde Tipton of Lawrenceville
High School will conduct the "Gloria" and its soloists. The-ma Young and Norma Mac-cormack.

Leon Du Bois of Princeton Day School, will conduct the
"Donna Nobis Paeam." Soloists in this contemporary work will be Norma MacLeod and Fadon. She will sing his composition, "Vaughan-Williams Chorus" from "The Mass."
Walt Whitman, the Roman Catholic Mass and the Bible.
The "Gloria" is an 18th century composition using the Gloria of the Mass as its text.

SHE SINGS THE BLUES
For Folk Bells. Neila
Horne of New York, will sing urban and original blues for the Princeton Folk Music Society on April 28 in Green Hall Lounge, Washington Road, opposite the Methodist Church.
Miss Horne will illustrate her songs with guitar and recording and will demonstrate "how to play the blues." The public is invited to attend.

News Of The CHURCHES

2,000 METHODISTS DUE

At Centennial Service, Princeton University Church will be the scene of a special thanksgiving service at 3:15 p.m. this Sunday marking the 200th anniversary of American Methodism. An estimated 2,000 persons, three from each Methodist church in New Jersey, are expected to attend.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Lee, Princeton University Church pastor, will deliver the address. Bishop A. Taylor Jr. of Princeton, president of the General Council of Bishops of the United Methodist Church, will take part in the program, as will representatives of the World Council of Churches.

The Symphonic Choir of Westminster Choir College will sing two special anthems commissioned for the occasion.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED

At the Princeton University Princeton Committee, moving force behind a number of religious activities in Princeton, has issued an appeal for support.

The appeal is for $500 for 1963-66 costs and a similar amount, or more, for next year.

A total of 736 residents of Princeton, N.J., Princeton, Hopewell, Lawrenceville, Dutch Neck and Princeton are enrolled in the Princeton Episcopians Study of 1964-65 and the Episcopians Study of 1965-66. Laymen, crossing denominational lines, met in neighborhood homes for six weeks of study and discussion.

The PCUC, founded in 1961, has followed up its own investigation of religious values and traditions of Princeton, and is sponsoring a series of inquiries' tours which begin each fall.

"The time has come to test whether the community interest in the ecumenical movement is still alive," states the solicitation letter sent by PCUC members. The letter is signed by the Rev. George Louis of All Saints Church and the Rev. Frying of Princeton Methodist.

"The Princeton Christian Unity Committee has been fortunate to have had substantial financial assistance from The Fund for Theological Education, as well as access to considerable technical know-how of its executive director, Walter D. Wagoner. In response to this request, we help determine whether similar study programs should be planned in the future or whether the Unity Committee should revise a recent ecumenical volunteer program to stimulate common interests with the Christian community of the Princeton area."

PCUC programs have been presented without cost to the participants. The funds are needed to cover typing, mimeographing, postage, and other study materials.

While its meetings for the past five years have been held wherever study in a vacant church room, the PCUC mailing address is in care of the Fund for Theological Education, 163 Nassau Street.

SET ZINING HEARING

On Diocese Application. The application of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Trenton to acquire property on Orchard Road, Belle Mead, comes up for a second hearing at 10 a.m. Tuesday before the Montgomery Township Zoning Board in the Municipal Building.

In December, the board denied the church request by a 4-3 majority vote was needed, and Member James W. Ward has resigned. Ward has resigned and Augustus Codrington has been appointed to fill his unexpired term.

The area is now within the parish of St. Paul's Church, Princeton. According to a church spokesman, the Belle Mead area is growing, and probably in the future a separate parish will be established.

FUND APPEAL: Members from the Princeton Christian Unity Committee, founded in 1962 as an experiment in ecumenical cooperation, met for a late evening session in Pierce Hall of Trinity Church, Princeton, Monday night. Members present were: Mrs. Marion Moore, St. Paul's Church; Glenn Frying, Princeton Methodist; Miss Branson Preston, St. Paul's Church; and Mr. and Mrs. Natalie Vaughan, both of Trinity, and Mrs. Emeline Gaskins, Waterspout Presbyterian Church (Staff Photo).

MARRIAGE FORUMS SET

By First Presbyterian. A discussion series on "Love and the Family" will be sponsored by First Presbyterian Church on four successive Monday nights, April 18, 25, May 2 and 9. Interested adults are invited.

The Rev. Dr. Donald B. Young, assistant director of the Marriage Council of Philadelphia, will speak on the topic, "Marriage - For Better or Worse," at 8 p.m. this Monday. Dr. Young, who holds degrees from Garrett Theological Seminary, Northwestern University and the University of Pennsylvania, is also assistant professor in family study in psychology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

Future speakers and their topics will be: Dr. Hilda Gordon, "The Marriage Council"; The Sexual Dimension in Marriage" April 29; Dr. William C. Canby of the Mercer County Child Guidance Center and psychiatric consultant to the school systems of Princeton and East Windsor Townships, "Telling Children - Proverbs 22:6" (May 2); and Dr. Howard Hiltner, professor of theology and personality at Princeton Seminary (May 9).

A play, "The House That Jack Built" by Elizabeth Blake, based on the relationship of faith and health, will precede Dr. Hiltner's discussion.

TO GIVE PARISH PARTY

At Trinity. A spring gala will be held in Pierce Hall of Trinity Church this Saturday evening to benefit special projects of the Episcopal Church. Women, Mrs. James Love and Mrs. Roger Wilcox are co-chairmen.

Plans for the parishwide party include dancing to the music of John Coates and his band, a special room for card playing and a Chinese auction featuring six objects d'art. The hall will be decorated accordingly.

PARISH PARTY: Plans for this Friday's Spring Gala at Trinity Church

will be to special projects of Trinity's Episcopal Churchwomen.

Play Dates Chanced

"A Man For All Seasons" will be presented by the Chapel Deacons at 7 p.m. Sunday in the chapel of Princeton University Church. Other performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

The play was originally scheduled to open this Friday. Notice of the change came too late to be included in the announcement on Town Topics theatre pages.

ing to designs by Mrs. Richard Huber.

Assisting the chairmen are Mrs. Eric Hocking, secretary; Mrs. Doak Gorman, refreshments; Mrs. Shove Palmer and Mrs. John Gorman, Jr., earl room; Mrs. Thomas R. P. A. and Mrs. Charles, auction; and Mrs. Stuart Martin, decorator.

The gala will be held from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $3.50. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Wilcox (921-6343) or Mrs. Love (924-3376).

PASS ECUMENICAL VOTE

At Calvary Baptist. Dual affiliation with the United Church of Christ was voted on Monday by the congregation of Calvary Baptist Church.

Without Laue. The action is Princeton's first holding of two denominations.

Calvary Baptist will seek membership in the United Church of Christ while maintaining all present relationships with the American Baptist Convention.

According to the Rev. Kenneth D. Monahan, pastor, the matter will be presented on April 30 to the Southern New Jersey Association of the United Church of Christ, meeting in New Brunswick.

"We have become convinced," the Calvary Baptist study committee reported, "that such an affiliation would constitute a tangible ecumenical step."

menical example, 2-strengthened by their testimony in this community. The church is broadening the ministry of Calvary Baptist Church.

The issue of dual affiliation has been under consideration since January 1963. A year ago, a formal study committee was appointed, composed of Frederick J. Sauer, C. Howard Hopkins, John C. Peck, Jr., C. R. C. Smith, Mrs. Robert E. Westover and J. Rogers Woolston. The committee reported favorably last October.

A change in name is being weighed. The Rev. Mr. D. Monahan said. The vote of dual affiliation at Monday's study business meeting received more than the required two-thirds majority. All of the negotiations were made with the knowledge of the Baptist body in New Jersey.

Nearly 10 years ago, the first Baptist Church of Summit adopted dual affiliation with the Church of Christ, adopting the name of Christ Church. About the same time, the First Baptist Church voted a similar action. A year ago the oldest Baptist Church in New Jersey, First A. B. Church, adopted dual affiliation. The United Church of Christ, which has been aligned with the Church of Christ since 1957, is now a member of the United Church of Christ in New York City. The issue is under consideration in Baptist churches from coast to coast, the Rev. Mr. D. Monahan said.

"Each Baptist church, he noted, like each congregation of the United Church of Christ, makes its own denominational decision. This is part of the free church tradition."

Statistically, churches having dual affiliation with the Church of Christ are members of both denominations.

PLAN CONCERT

For Scholarship Fund. Marion W. Tyson will give a concert at 8 p.m. this Sunday in the Methodist A.M.E. Church in Belle Mead. The scholarship fund. The church choir are sponsors.

Mrs. Tyson, wife of the pastor, the Rev. Albert D. Tyson Jr., has sung before church and civic groups in New Jersey and Rhode Island and attended Wilberforce University, where she majored in voice and public school music. The public is invited. Admission is free.

RAUMAGE SALE SET

At Princeton Methodist. The Women's Society of Christ and the Missionary Church will hold a rummage sale from 9 to 5 next Thursday, April 25, and from 9 to 3 on Friday.

Donors of articles for the sale are asked to call Mrs. Irving Ness (924-2824) or Mrs. Frank Ness (924-0714) for arrangement for pick-up. Articles not to be left at the church social hall from 1 to 5 on Monday.

day and 9 to 5 on Tuesday and Wednesday.

BULLETIN NOTES

Talent Show. The young people of First Baptist Church will take part in a talent show at 6 p.m. this Sunday at the church. The Missionary Circle is sponsor.

Music Services

At Calvary Baptist. The choir of Calvary Baptist Church will present music from Handel's "Messiah" this Sunday at 11 a.m. service of music. Misses D. Thomas of Westminster Choir College will direct.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterians. An Church three well-known hymns and the lives of the acurrs there will be sketched by Rev. F. Hugh Liffitt, pastor. Included are St. Bernard, Clairvaux, Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee," John Newman's "Glorious Things of Thee," "Are Spoken," and "Glorious Things of Thee." "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." His services are at 9:30 and 11. The public is invited.

In the Pulpit. The Rev. Douglas Brown, executive director of the Unitarian Universalist District of Metropolitan New York, will speak at 11 this Sunday in the Unitarian Church of Princeton.

The Rev. James T. Cleland, dean of the Duke University Chapel, will preach at 11 in Princeton University Chapel.

By Archimedes (Bernard)
Let's talk about a successful permanent and how to achieve it. This means without a great amount of dyes, bristles and curly ends, whether the style is a long smooth one or a short, curly style.

When a permanent has been properly given, the overall condition of the hair is improved and the finished curls are soft and fluffy. The ends show no signs of brittleness or dryness, and the hair proves manageable for setting and styling. Because the hair has not been "over-treated," it remains unchanged, the noticeable improvement to the hair condition remains throughout the hair strands.

However, a truly successful permanent can only be achieved by having reconditioning treatments for the hair and scalp before a permanent, by the use of quality merchandise, and by the skill of highly qualified operators, which we at TAVERNWOOD have. If its quality you want, come to TAVERNWOOD, 8 B P A U. TAVERNWOOD, 8 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3983.

POSTAL PATRON

Germaine Monteil

Half-hue, Half-you
HALF-TONE
CREAM FOUNDATION

HALF-TONES in:
Beige, Peach, Bronze.
Neutral, Pink, Rose,
Each, 6.00

You must try Germaine Monteil's marvelous new cream coloring. HALF-TONE blends with your own skin tone to make a totally new, beautiful complexion. It feels like fresh air. Still, it gives you the complete undetectable coverage you have always wanted, with a lovely clean shine that seems to come from within. Smooth it on (the way only a Monteil cream smooths on), and watch it become more YOU than hue.
